Fyi. Don't know where Nizich is on that press opening. I have to assume Privi doesn't want Privileged or Personal Material Re for it?

Subject: my son Robert

Sarah and Todd,

Just so you know, I was in Juneau and noticed an entry level opening in the gov's office as a press assistant (Lauren's old job I assume.) Anyway, I told my son Robert about it since his job at CITC ended with the grant funding and he is still very determined to make his way in this career path. He is very excited about this opening, and of course, he doesn't think he stands a chance of getting it. I've encouraged him to apply.

He will apply and I hope he will get fair consideration even though he lives in Anchorage; he would move to Juneau if he was selected. No special favors at all, I would just ask that he not be overlooked because of his Anchorage address or because I am part of your administration (which could work against him.)

Thanks in advance for being tolerant of my over protectiveness; it is my weakness.

Take Care, tj.

Governor,

It took over five hours, but we managed to drop nearly 600 words, from 3,065 to the attached draft at 2,470! We also tried to clarify and improve flow. To tighten, we had to edit your words, hopefully we didn't lose many of your favorite turns of phrase. We embedded some comments to explain some thought processes, but toward the end just forged forward in the interest of time.

We also confirmed all but one figure, noted in a comment. Sean will see to that one.

Anyway, indulge us by opening the "clean" version first? The markup is also attached, for rejecting changes you dislike. Let us know if there is anything else you need.

Subject: RE: Educ figures

Governor,

This may sound confusing, so hang in there with me - We have a 1) drop out rate and we have an 2) on-time graduation rate.

The FY07 drop out rate in grades 7-12 was 5.47% (3,434 kids)
The FY06 drop out rate in grades 7-12 was 5.8% (3,642 kids)
The FY05 drop out rate in grades 7-12 was 6.0% (3,791 kids)

So, Alaska's drop out rate is decreasing, slowly. Drop outs could be kids who leave school to get a GED, leave the public school system altogether, or are pulled out of school to be homeschooled, independently at home, not associated with any public or private school. We are losing too many kids annually.

The Alaska on-time graduation rate is calculated by looking at the kids who enter High School in 9th grade and graduate 4 years later, on-time.

The FY07 on-time graduation rate was 62.95%
The FY06 on-time graduation rate was 61.59%
The FY05 on-time graduation rate was 61.35%

So, Alaska's on-time graduation rate is increasing, slightly. The national on-time graduation rate is around 72%.

I hope this helps - if it doesn't, or you need more information, please let me know. Thanks! BAT

You've done this before with your staff, but you're going to want to watch your time so you know when you have to turn a draft into Beth (or someone else) so you get it on the teleprompter and so she has time to to clean it up for distribution. The trick will be to give your staff plenty of time to clean up the "&" "w/" "applause" and other shorthand typing in the speech, but not enough time so they inundate you with changes. Don't know if you'll do it this time or not but often the governor's staff will distribute a copy of the speech as you're going into the chambers or just ahead of that moment.

Governor,

The PA's 10 page letter is a public record and was made available yesterday afternoon. It was supposed to go up on the AGIA website at some point.

As you may have noticed, the letter does not identify the specific companies; the attachments do. The attachments have been requested to be treated as confidential.

Is the PA's application made public, along with it's supplement? I assumed it was- hope it is- the adn made it sound like it wasn't, per Whitaker's comment.

The public may comment on all five proposals, nothing stops that, but of course the application we're considering is TC's. (For that matter they may comment on CP's, also.).

Thanks

They said they were so surprised- (so I'm glad ktuu runs my quote for presser where we TOLD them we'd look, but not consider under AGIA and they SAID in their proposal they knew it wouldn't be considered under AGIA.)

They're in a box, they say- not quite knowing what to do. They said I put myself in a box, too, though. I said- in terms of "negotiating with you, YOU put me in a box", as we had to go forth w AGIA since (and Marty kept reminding them of this) they were non-responsive for five months re: what their terms were. Instead of continuing to guess, we would tell them and everyone else what our terms were, and the process was good and successful. Even yesterday they still wouldn't tell us what they would have needed to get a deal- it's way more than 25 yrs gas certainty... and it hinted at them having to ask for whatever exxon/bp was ultimately wanting (control, arbitration changes, etc). It was a good mtg- not so impressed with Wentzel, but I like Bowles (I like Mulva even more), though I'm getting impatient with his talking 'round and 'round about the same issues we've discussed for over a year now.

I told them I personally thought it futile for them to go to leggies and try to change process/plans. They admitted as much, but also admitted they don't know what else to do. We said we need (and needed all along) to know what they wanted... and that we hoped they'd work with TC, and of course to committ their gas. They said we were forcing them to just go back to hook up w/Exx and BP.

Governor,

It took over five hours, but we managed to drop nearly 600 words, from 3,065 to the attached draft at 2,470! We also tried to clarify and improve flow. To tighten, we had to edit your words, hopefully we didn't lose many of your favorite turns of phrase. We embedded some comments to explain some thought processes, but toward the end just forged forward in the interest of time.

We also confirmed all but one figure, noted in a comment. Sean will see to that one.

Anyway, indulge us by opening the "clean" version first? The markup is also attached, for rejecting changes you dislike. Let us know if there is anything else you need.

Good news!! I did a comfortably paced read through (yes, out loud) and came out at 18 minutes, even with the pause for our troops and at a few applause line junctures.

We have a little bit of work to do on some missing words and a few minor grammar issues (I'll wait to see what you send back before fixing anything.)

All in all, the read-through demonstrated you have a strong, clear and mechanically well-tuned speech. I like it very much!!

You just about have to read it through all the way once without stopping to fully appreciate it. I've been so caught up in stopping at different sections that I didn't fully appreciate the whole--very nice product from a great working team. I'm thankful to be part of it with both you and Bruce.
